

Imagine _____

Imagine a world in which everyone feels connected – to themselves, and to their surroundings. Where we understand each other and value everything we have in common, and everything that makes us different. We live together in harmony and feel a true sense of belonging – wherever we are. This is the world we are here to co-create.

Teaching the local language more naturally while bridging the gap between different cultures within Switzerland is how we contribute and make a difference.

We are, however, much more than just another language school. But more on that later.

Always more than

MORE THAN A LANGUAGE COACH – THEY'RE A COMPANION.

Our coaches truly care. We match clients with their personal coach. While bonding over shared interests, an authentic connection can grow, similarities are explored and clients benefit from the coaches' expertise beyond language. A feeling of belonging arises naturally, and integration into society happens more easily.

MORE THAN A LANGUAGE CLASS – IT'S A PLACE OF SUPPORT.

Here, our focus is entirely on meeting the clients' very personal needs. Our coaches cultivate a nurturing environment where clients feel safe to be authentic and make mistakes. The clients are supported to mindfully unblock and debunk myths and mental obstacles to reach their very personal goals, nothing defined by a book but by their personal situation. Language learning isn't just about conjugating verbs—it's about finding joy in connection, sharing laughs and insights that make learning a breeze and more like a byproduct.

MORE THAN A COMPANY – WE'RE A COMMUNITY.

We trust each other deeply. We care for each other from the heart. We appreciate each other, because everyone contributes to the vision with their authentic selves. And we are all devoted to grow, serve and learn from each other.

MORE THAN A PARTNER – WE'RE A FRIEND.

And like a friend we are open-hearted. We want the best for you. We want to motivate you to reach your highest potential. We communicate clearly and honestly, and we hold our boundaries maturely.

Your contribution _____

As an employer, you have the power to truly make a genuine impact in the lives of your employees. Here's how: make them feel heard, seen, understood and truly supported.

Rather than having your people learn grammar, have them learn the local language naturally, immersed in the local culture. Instead of providing them with books and a teacher, give them access to a community and friends. In place of spending time and resources on conventional schooling, devote the energy to an innovative approach to language learning and integration.

Your return on investment? People who are not merely employed but connected. Employees who identify with your company values. A team who is loyal and attracts more people who match.

The bigger effect? A country that thrives on its diversity, with locals embracing internationals and vice-versa.

We stand
by you —

We've been around for a while: Unu Mondo was founded in 2017. That doesn't make us a dinosaur. But those years did provide us with hundreds of success stories we're proud of and a rich experience to best suit your needs.

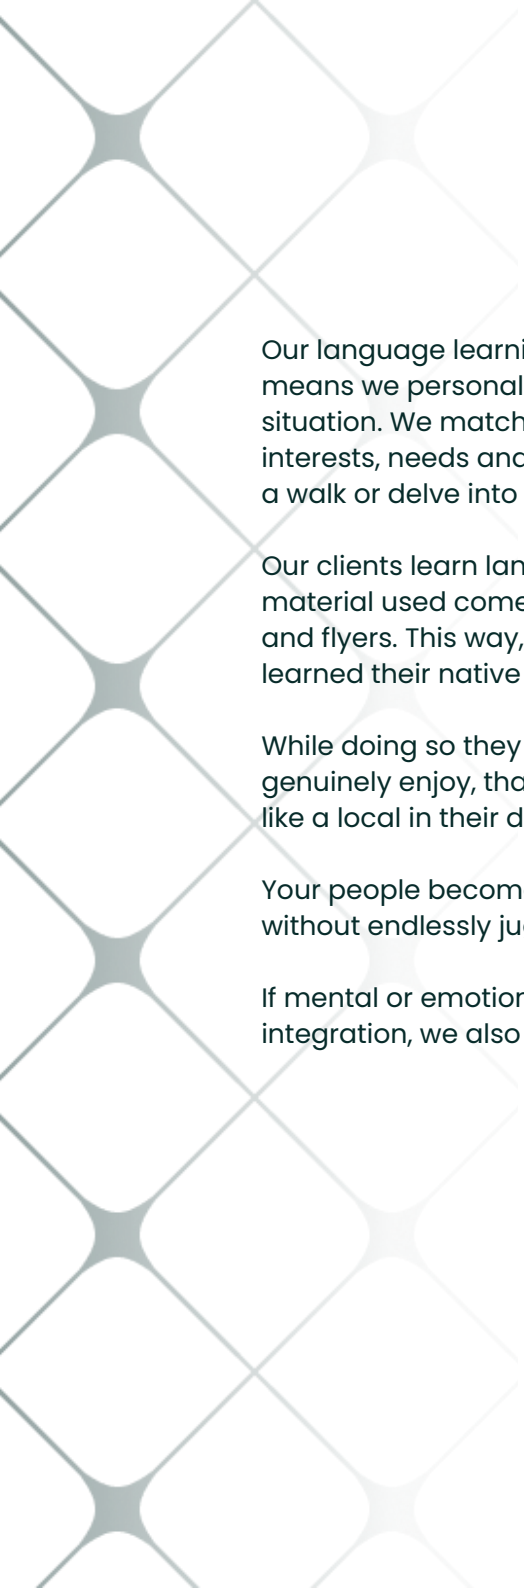

We've been involved: languages, culture, life coaching, energetics, personal development, integration work, social work, entrepreneurship, tourism, hospitality, and workshop facilitation have been our domains for decades.

With our holistic approach to everything we put our hands on, we offer unique solutions.

We focus on you: Everything we do, we personalise. Based on your needs and goals around language and integration, we can offer workshops, consulting services, coaching and language coaching. The collaboration is meant to serve your purpose.

Our unique approach

Our language learning approach is fresh and unique. Sending your people to us means we personalise their experience by understanding their individual situation. We match them one-on-one with a local coach who aligns with their interests, needs and goals. Together they'll go to the market, to the museum, on a walk or delve into very specific topics.

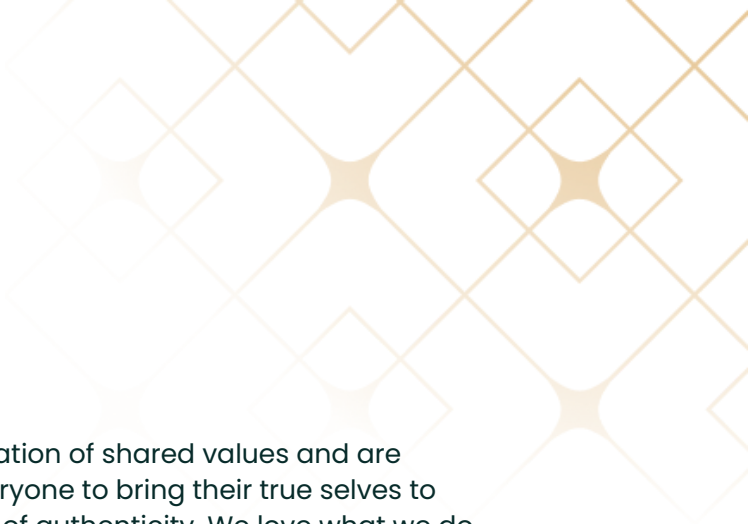

Our clients learn language in the real world, outside of the classroom. The material used comes from daily life: receipts, recipes, menu cards, billboards and flyers. This way, they learn the language naturally, similar to how they learned their native language.

While doing so they form a connection with a local, engage in activities they genuinely enjoy, that help them integrate more easily, and help them feel more like a local in their daily lives.

Your people become conversational fast, in either Swiss German or German, without endlessly juggling grammar technicalities.

If mental or emotional blockages are holding them back in their learning or integration, we also provide additional coaching.

Our team

At Unu Mondo we have a very strong foundation of shared values and are bridge builders at heart. We encourage everyone to bring their true selves to every facet of their work, fostering a culture of authenticity. We love what we do, we thrive with freedom, and we are all devoted to grow, serve and learn from each other.

We believe in less pain, more gain - working and learning can actually be really enjoyable.

Our team of language and integration coaches have very diverse backgrounds. Each one of them brings their very own expertise apart from language into the sessions. We are all spread across Switzerland yet united by a common purpose: to bring people together and foster mutual understanding, even beyond language.

We regularly gather as a team, and as we come together, we emerge more connected, and ready to make a difference in the lives of those we serve.

Connect with us —

The current very intense times require us to really come together. It's not an option anymore to stay divided and separated.

Every individual plays a role and as companies we have the responsibility to choose: are we being a part of the solution or the problem? Are we making things in this world better or worse?

Though global change might be beyond our reach, let's create something truly remarkable in Switzerland, setting an example for a more humane and heart centered society.

We are very excited and driven to make this change happen and be part of the solution together.
